Amendment Summary: House amendment 1 (004455) changes the effective date of this bill from October 1, 2021, to July 1, 2021, except for items (1)-(7) below, which will take effect on January 1, 2022. This amendment adds the following provisions for the purposes of registering a trust with the secretary of state: (1) The trustee of a trust that has the trust's principal place of administration in this state may register the trust with the secretary of state. For purposes of this provision, a trust is considered to have the trust's principal place of administration in this state if one of the trustees has its principal place of business in this state or is a resident of this state and the trust meets the requirements described in the present law provision providing whether the terms of a trust's state jurisdiction provision is valid and controlling; (2) Registration is accomplished by filing a statement with the secretary of state that includes certain information and a fee as detailed by this amendment; (3) If a trust has been registered elsewhere, registration in this state is ineffective until either the earlier registration is released by the jurisdiction where prior registration occurred or an instrument executed by the trustee and all current beneficiaries is filed with the registration in this state; (4) The registration is confidential and not subject to public inspection; (5) Notwithstanding item (4) above, the settlor, a trustee, trust advisor, or trust protector for the trust may obtain a certified copy of the registration upon filing a request with the secretary of state that includes a signed attestation that they are the settlor or a currently serving trustee, trust advisor, or trust protector, and paying a filing fee of $100 payable to the secretary of state. If the requesting person is not listed in the initial registration, such as in the case of a newly appointed trustee, trust advisor, or trust protector, then the requesting party must provide documentation evidencing the requesting party's appointment; (6) The registration may be canceled by a signed request of the trustee, attesting to current service as a trustee, accompanied by documentary evidence of subsequent registration of the trust in a different jurisdiction; or an acknowledged instrument executed by all current beneficiaries agreeing to the cancellation; and (7) The secretary of state may designate required forms and methods for filing a registration, requesting a certified copy of a registration, and cancelling a registration.
